Acknowledgments

I am grateful to the authors, each of whom worked hard to put together a paper and presentation that would be of interest to a broad policy audience. I also thank NBER administrative staff for their help in organizing the conference and publications; they include Liz Cary, Kirsten Foss Davis, Helena Fitz-Patrick, Claire Gilchrist, Brett Maranjian, and Paula Oliveira. Finally, I am grateful to the National Institute on Aging, which has supported a large portion of the NBER's health care research agenda, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and the Commonwealth Fund, which supported some of the research reported here.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that this is crucial for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations.

2. The second part of the document outlines the specific procedures and protocols that must be followed to ensure that all records are properly maintained and updated. This includes regular audits and reviews to verify the accuracy and completeness of the data.
