

Call for Papers

American Economic Journal: Economic Policy

One of four new journals established by the American Economic Association, the American Economic Journal: Economic Policy (AEJ Policy) invites submissions beginning July 13, 2007.

Scope

AEJ Policy will publish papers covering a range of topics, the common theme being the role of economic policy in economic outcomes. Subject areas will include public economics; urban and regional economics; public policy aspects of health, education, welfare and political institutions; law and economics; economic regulation; and environmental and natural resource economics.

Editors

Editor: Alan Auerbach, University of California-Berkeley
Co-Editor: Hilary Hoynes, University of California-Davis

Board of Editors:

James Banks, University College, London
Rebecca Blank, University of Michigan
Severin Borenstein, University of California-Berkeley
Julie Cullen, University of California-San Diego
Mihir Desai, Harvard University
Mark Duggan, University of Maryland
Amy Finkelstein, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Kristin Forbes, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Austan Goolsbee, University of Chicago
Michael Greenstone, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Jonathan Gruber, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Louis Kaplow, Harvard University
Michael Keen, International Monetary Fund
Wojciech Kopczuk, Columbia University
Jeffrey Liebman, Harvard University
Brigitte Madrian, Harvard University
Thomas Nechyba, Duke University
John Quigley, University of California-Berkeley
G rard Roland, University of California-Berkeley
Jonathan Skinner, Dartmouth College

Submissions

AEJ Policy is a peer-reviewed journal. The submission fee is $100 for AEA members and $200 for nonmembers. The journal reserves the right to reject some papers on the basis of an initial screening by the editors, in which cases submission fees will be returned to authors. After initial screening of papers, the normal review process will be carried out following the same "double-blind" procedure used by the American Economic Review. Thus, authors should not be identified anywhere in the paper itself. To accelerate the decision process, authors of manuscripts previously reviewed by the AER may request that, subject to the referees' agreement, the full correspondence files of the AER referees (including cover letters as well as referees' reports) be shared with the editors of AEJ Policy, who will have the discretion to make a decision based on these reports or to request additional reports.

AEJ Policy will publish papers of varying length, although manuscripts exceeding 50 pages will rarely be published. The journal will not have separate sections of longer and shorter papers. Authors of published papers will have the right to republication in any work in any form, including digital repositories. Submissions to the journal must be made electronically, via the following web site, which also provides additional information about the submission process: www.aeaweb.org/aej-policy/

Publication and subscriptions

Each of the American Economic Journals will appear quarterly beginning in 2009, two published in January/April/July/October and two in February/May/August/November each year. Members of the American Economic Association will have electronic access to all four AEJs, including pre-publication versions of accepted papers, through the Association website. (If you have not yet secured a password to the members-only website, and wish to do so, please click here.)

All members will receive a complimentary print copy of the inaugural issue of each new journal, and upon request will continue to receive complimentary print copies until membership renewal. Thereafter, Association members will be able to purchase print copies of the American Economic Journals on an ongoing basis for $25 per year per journal (plus $15 foreign postage where applicable) as part of the normal membership renewal process. Instructions for procedures to continue receiving print copies will be included in the inaugural issues. Subscriptions to the American Economic Journals are not available independently of membership in the Association.