

invites applications for a full-time position at the rank of

Professor / Associate Professor of International Economics with a specialisation in the theory of international trade and trade policy starting on 1 September 2008 or a mutually agreed-upon date.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Economics or equivalent and have university-level teaching experience. They should have a strong analytical background and broad interests in international trade and commercial policy as well as a demonstrated research record with a strong empirical orientation. The successful candidate is expected to teach international trade courses in the Institute's programmes and to supervise master and doctoral theses.

The language of instruction is either English or French, but candidates will be expected to soon acquire, if not already possess, a working knowledge of the other language.

The Institute specifically encourages women to apply.

Applications, including a detailed curriculum vitae and a list of publications, must reach the Director, Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, P.O. Box 136, 1211 Geneva 21, Switzerland (fax: + 41 22 731 27 77; email: director@hei.unige.ch) by 30 November 2007. General terms of appointment may be obtained upon request.