
Subject Index

- Annuity insurance plans, Japan, 146–54
- Assets, Japan: of elderly people, 106; holding changes, 99–104; household and distribution of household, 88–97; net worth distribution by asset component and age, 97–100
- Assets, U.S.: homeownership, 123–26; income of elderly from, 68, 73, 75; measurement of, composition of, and income from, 116–23
- Case management, 190
- Consumption: behavior in elderly and nonelderly households, 72–75; effect for very old people, 65, 77; postretirement in United States, 8, 13; U.S.-Japanese comparison of elderly, 134–35
- Data sources: analysis of housing and economic status of elderly, 112; analysis of Japanese household asset- and wealth-holdings, 86; relation of Social Security to labor supply of elderly in Japan, 52
- Early retirement decision, U.S., 35–36
- Earnings. See also Market wage, Japan; Reservation wage, Japan
- Earnings of older employees, U.S., 17, 20–21
- Earnings test, Japan: effect on earnings distribution of eligible Social Security recipients, 51, 56–57; implications for public policy, 58–60
- Elderly people. See Elderly people, Japan; Elderly people, U.S.; Living arrangements, elderly
- Elderly people, Japan: comparison of housing with U.S., 129–35; health maintenance system, 145–46; as homeowners, 104–5, 131–32; living arrangements, 105–7; mobility, 131–32; public policy related to working elderly, 45; retired workers' medical system, 146
- Elderly people, U.S.: characteristics of population, 112–15; comparison of housing with Japanese, 129–35; current health care financing, 178–81; economic and housing status, 112–13; health care programs, 175; as homeowners, 123–26, 131–32; incomes, 18–19, 65–67; issues related to housing of, 109–12; mobility, 131–32; proposals related to insurance-underwritten long-term care, 181–86; proposed long-term care options, 188–90; as recipients of insurance-underwritten benefits, 178–81
- Employment policy, Japan: implications of pension benefits for employed elderly, 58–60; related to regulation of elderly in work force, 45
- Health care insurance, U.S.: coverage and costs, 175–76; effect of demographic changes in cost, 177–78; interest in promoting long-term care, 181–86; Medicaid

- Health care insurance (continued)
and Medicare long-term care benefits, 178–81; private insurance financing, 181.
See also Long-term care; Medicaid, U.S.; Medicare, U.S.; Medigap health insurance, U.S.; Moral hazard (long-term care)
- Health Insurance Managed by Associations (HIMA), Japan, 142–43
- Health Insurance Managed by Government (HIMG), Japan, 143
- Health insurance system, Japan, 141–45
- Health Maintenance System for the Aged (HMSA), Japan, 145–46
- Homeownership: by age group in Japan, 89–90; asset value in United States, 116; effect in Japan on wealth distribution, 96–99; elderly in Japan, 104–5, 131–32; elderly in United States, 123–26, 131–32; increase in Japan, 101–4
- Housing, Japan: comparison with United States, 129–35; equity of elderly in, 86–87; rental, 88; value of owner-occupied, 87
- Housing, U.S.: comparisons with Japanese, 129–35; equity of elderly in, 73; mean costs for older households, 121; real price increases, 110–11
- Income, Japan: comparison with Japan of elderly, 133–34
- Income, U.S.: comparisons of elderly and non-elderly, 69–75; comparison with Japanese of elderly, 133–34; composition, 120–21; distribution, 118–20; distribution among elderly, 76; distribution of sources among elderly households, 66–69, 75; of elderly, 18–19, 65–67, 175; money incomes, 116; share of income for shelter, 121–23; trends among elderly, 69–72; value of nonmoney, 74–76, 79–80. See also Earnings; Reverse annuity mortgage (RAM) experiments, U.S.
- Inflation effect, U.S., 80–81, 82
- Labor force participation, Japan: model and results of likelihood, 48–56; rates for older workers, 3, 44–46
- Labor force participation, U.S.: age of leaving, 11–13; changes for elderly in, 66–68; of older workers, 7, 18–19, 37; proposed public policy related to, 21–23; trends, 11–14
- Labor market, Japan: employment policy for older workers, 45, 58–60; government role related to older workers, 44–45, 58–60
- Life-care communities, 188–89
- Life expectancy: Japan, 105; U.S., 7, 9–10, 64–66
- Living arrangements, elderly: comparison of U.S. and Japanese, 130–34; cost in United States for, 112, 115–16, 121–23, 127
- Long-term care: barrier to development of private or public provision, 186–87; issues in United States related to, 181–86; Medicaid and Medicare payments for, 176–81; proposals for implementing, 187–90; spending in United States, 182
- Market wage, Japan: defined, 48; function estimate, 54–55; variables in analysis of Japanese Social Security/labor force participation, 52–54
- Medicaid, U.S., 75, 79–80, 175; eligibility and provisions, 180; long-term care spending, 176, 180–81, 191
- Medicare, U.S.: cost of, 175–76; coverage of long-term care cost, 179–80; growth and containment of growth in expenditures, 176, 182, 191; limits on long-term care payments, 179–80; as nonmoney transfers to elderly, 74, 75, 79–80, 175; participation, 178; projected estimates of enrollments, 177
- Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act (1988), U.S., 178–79
- Medigap health insurance, U.S., 178, 181
- Moral hazard (long-term care), 186–92
- Mutual Aid Association (MAA) Insurance, Japan, 143
- National Health Insurance System (NHIS), Japan, 143–44
- National Pension Plan (NPP), Japan, 147–51, 159–60
- Pension benefits, Japan: estimates of future costs, 158–60, 164–71; under public annuity insurance plans, 146–54; volume of recipients and criteria for collecting, 46–48
- Pension benefits, U.S.: for elderly from private pensions, 67–68
- Pension plans: contribution in United States,

- 25; effect on retirement with changes in firm, 33–37; simulated effect of reform in Japan, 147–54. See also National Pension Plan (NPP), Japan; Retirement plans; Social Security benefits, Japan; Social Security benefits, U.S.; Welfare Annuity Plan (WAP), Japan
- Pension plans, defined-benefit: coverage, 16–17; incentives to retire, 25–32; proportion in firm, 25; retiree reliance on, 15–16
- Population, Japan: age distribution, 129–30; allocation model of population in future, 154–70; projection for over-65, 2, 129–30, 139–40
- Population, U.S.: age distribution, 129–30; aging of, 9–10; causes of age distribution changes, 64; fraction of elderly, 64–65, 109–10; projection for over-65, 2, 7, 63, 129–30
- Poverty rate, U.S.: defined, 75; for elderly, 63, 75–78; estimates of elderly widow, 65, 76–78
- Price index for elderly, U.S., 69–72
- Public policy, Japan: annuity insurance, 146–54; government role in labor market, 44–45; health insurance, 139–46; implications related to labor market, 58–60; proposed pension reform, 172–73; related to demand and supply of elderly workers, 2, 43–45
- Public policy, U.S.: effect on elderly of tax policy, 127–29; related to health care, 176; related to labor supply among elderly, 21–23
- Reservation wage, Japan: defined, 48; variables in analysis of Japanese Social Security/labor force participation, 52–54
- Retired Workers' Medical System (RWMS), Japan, 146
- Retirement: factors influencing decisions in United States, 7–8, 16–21; option value model, 32–37; rates of departures from firms, 30–32; relation to life expectancy in United States, 10–11; trend toward earlier U.S., 16. See also Early retirement decision
- Retirement plans, Japan: incentives to retire, 44–45
- Retirement plans, U.S.: incentives in public and private, 8, 21–23; incentives to retire in firm-sponsored, 25–32; incentives to retire in Social Security, 23–25. See also Pension plans
- Reverse annuity mortgage (RAM) experiments, U.S., 127
- Saving: as factor in retirement decision, 20; at retirement age in United States, 14–15, 37
- Social health maintenance organizations, 188
- Social Security benefits, Japan: for employed and retired elderly, 46–48; proposed reduction and eligibility changes, 43–44
- Social Security benefits, U.S.: effect on retirement with changes in, 33–37; levels in United States, 16; reliance in United States on, 14–16
- Social Security system, Japan: for employed people, 46–48; relation of benefits to labor supply of elderly, 45–56
- Subsidies, Japan: for employment of older workers, 45; reduction under pension reform legislation, 153–54
- Wage earnings. See Earnings
- Wealth. See Assets, Japan; Assets, U.S.; Consumption; Homeownership; Income, Japan; Income, U.S.; Saving; Wealth, Japan; Wealth, U.S.
- Wealth, Japan: changes in, 99–104; distribution, 91–97
- Wealth, U.S.: accrual rates of pension wealth, 26–32, 37–38; accrual rates of Social Security, 28–30, 37–38; average household wealth and distribution, 78–81; composition, 3, 14–16, 120–21; distribution, 118–20; measurement, 112–15; ratio of wealth to income, 116–18
- Welfare Annuity Plan (WAP), Japan, 147, 158–59
- Working beneficiaries, Japan: earnings distribution of pension-eligible workers, 56–57; under Social Security, 46–47