

---

Subject Index

- Administered protection (AP): defined, 2n3; effectiveness for U.S. lumber industry, 98; under Multi-Fibre Arrangement, 47–48; steel industry pressure for (1992–93), 28–29; for U.S. steel companies, 16–21
- Ag for NAFTA, 75–76
- Agricultural sector: concessions in NAFTA implementing legislation, 77–80
- American Textile Manufacturers Institute (ATMI), 44–45, 47–48
- Antidumping law: initiation of case against Japan, 9; Revenue Act (1916), 85; trade effects, 88–91; uses and impacts, 91–92; U.S.–Japan semiconductor trade agreement, 5; U.S. practices, 87; U.S. steel company petitions under, 21; U.S. Trade Act (1974), 18. See also Administered protection (AP); Imports; Outcome filers; Process filers
- Automobile industry, U.S.: economic effects of protection for, 38–42, 96; as interest group, 36; power of and constraints on, 36–38; as sectoral regime, 41–42
- Barriers to entry: effect over long term, 99–100; Japan, 9; United States, 15
- Boolean analysis (winning-argument factors), 53, 54, 56–60
- Bush administration, 27–28, 67
- Capture Theory (CT): argument, 52; prediction in U.S.–Canadian lumber trade disputes, 59–60
- Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI), 77–78
- Carter administration, 18, 37, 40
- CASUM. See Coalition of American Steel-Using Manufacturers (CASUM)
- Clinton administration, 29, 71, 75, 81
- Coalition for Fair Lumber Imports (CFLI), 54–55
- Coalition of American Steel-Using Manufacturers (CASUM), 26–29
- Coalitions: in NAFTA debate, 73; in NAFTA implementing legislation, 75–80; U.S. steel industry interests, 15, 23–24
- Collective bargaining: in U.S. steel industry, 24
- Committee for Implementation of the Textile Agreements (CITA), 47
- Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), 62–64
- Common Agricultural Policy (CAP), EC, 68
- Competition: auto industry, 42; international-level agricultural commodities, 62; in international steel industry, 15–20, 32; within U.S. steel industry, 31–32
- Computer Systems Policy Project (CSPP), 12
- Congressional Steel Caucus, 18, 22, 26
- Countervailing duty (CVD): U.S. lumber industry inquiries, 54–56; U.S. steel company petitions, 21. See also Administered protection (AP)
- Cross-subsidization, agricultural exports, 63–64
- Davignon Plan, Europe, 20
- Dumping: determination in United States, 87; U.S. industry complaints, 8; U.S. steel

- Dumping (cont.)
companies' actions against (1970s), 18.
See also Antidumping law; Imports
- Dynamic random-access memory (DRAM) chips: decline of market in, 8; Japanese and U.S. production compared, 7–8
- Eisenhower administration, 45
- Employment: U.S. steel industry, 31; U.S. textile and apparel industry, 48
- Erasable programmable read-only memories (EPROMs), 9
- Escape clause petition: of U.S. automobile industry
(1980), 37; of U.S. steel industry
(1984), 22, 26; U.S. textile industry
(1956), 45
- European Community (EC): reforms of Common Agricultural Policy (CAP), 68; U.S. trade negotiations related to steel, 21
- Export Enhancement Program (EEP): agricultural commodity subsidies under, 62–64; effectiveness, 64–66; interest group outcomes, 68–69; as political winner, 69;
reauthorization, 66–68
- Exports: Export Enhancement Program, 3, 61–66; subsidies and cross-subsidies for U.S. agricultural products, 62–64; support policy for U.S. agricultural, 72; volume of U.S. agricultural products as, 72.
See also Subsidies; Voluntary export restraints (VERs)
- Farm Act reauthorization (1990), 67
- Farm support programs, U.S., 64; export commodity subsidies under, 62–64
- Food Security Act (1985), 63–64. See also Export Enhancement Program (EEP)
- Free Trade Agreement, U.S.-Canada, 74
- General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade
(GATT): Uruguay Round, 49; Uruguay
Round required export subsidy reduction, 68
- Generalized System of Preferences (GSP), 77–78
- Glass-Steagall Act, 8
- Government role: in subsidies to steel industries, 17–18, 20–21; in textile and apparel industry protection, 43–44
- Imports: criteria related to dumping, 87;
effects of antidumping laws on, 86, 88–91; NAFTA early warning import-surge mechanism, 78; steel industry relief from (1984), 22; of steel into United States, 17–20; of textiles, 43–44; U.S.
lumber industry CVD inquiries, 54–56;
U.S. steel import regimes, 15–16; U.S.
trigger price mechanism for steel, 18; volume of U.S. agricultural product, 72–73.
See also Voluntary import restraint agreements (VRAs)
- Interest groups: actions and influence in NAFTA negotiations, 73, 75–82; actions and strength of U.S. automobile industry, 35–38; agricultural, 73–74; Japanese semiconductor industry, 6; for and against NAFTA implementing legislation, 75–80, 98–99; pressure for and response to Export Enhancement Program, 62–64, 66–68; response to reauthorization of Export Enhancement Program, 66–68; role in capture theory and new in-stitutionalism, 52–53; role of U.S. agricultural, 62–64, 75–76, 98; sources of steel industry's political strength, 22–26;
U.S. lumber industry, 54–56; U.S. steel companies seeking protection, 15–16, 22;
U.S. steel workers, 24, 31; U.S. textile industry, 44–45; U.S. wheat growers and exporters, 62–64, 98; VRA renewal campaign (1988), 26–29. See also Coalitions
- International Trade Administration (ITA): adjudication of lumber industry trade disputes, 53–56; determines less than fair value criterion, 87–88
- Investigation effect, antidumping law (outcome-filer and process-filer hypotheses), 88–92
- Kennedy administration, 45–46
- Less than fair value (LTFV) determination, 87–88
- Long Term Arrangement on Cotton Textiles,
46. See also Multi-Fibre Arrangement (MFA)
- LTFV. See Less than fair value (LTFV) determination
- Lumber industry, U.S.: analysis of U.S.-
Canadian winning arguments in trade disputes, 56–60
- Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI), Japan: response to U.S. anti-dumping action, 11; role of, 8
- Most favored nation (MFN) status: for Mexican imports, 77

- Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association (MVMA), 35
- Multi-Fibre Arrangement (MFA): origins and implementation of, 46–48; protection for textiles and apparel under, 2, 97. See also Long Term Arrangement on Cotton Textiles
- Multilateral Steel Agreement (MSA), 27–28
- National Association of Wheat Growers, 66–68
- New Institutionalism (NI), 52, 59–60
- Nixon administration, 46–47
- North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA): agricultural provisions, 74; estimated effect of, 75; outcomes for interests debating, 80–82; role of agricultural interest groups in shaping, 73; side agreements, 75
- Oligopoly, U.S. steel industry, 23–24
- Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (OBRA): GATT trigger for EEP subsidies, 67
- Outcome filers: actions of, 86–87; investigation effect of antidumping law, 88–91; targets and outcomes under antidumping laws, 91–92
- Outcomes: capture theory political and regulatory, 52; of NAFTA negotiations, 77–82; New Institutionalism political, 52; pressure to influence NAFTA, 71
- Payment in Kind (PIK) program, 61
- Political economy: model assumptions, 35–36; of protection, 1; of trade policy, 2. See also Capture Theory (CT); New Institutionalism (NI)
- Political strength: as determinant of protection, 95; sources of U.S. steel industry, 15, 22–26; steel industry loss of, 26–32; of textile industry, 45–49; U.S. auto industry, 36; of U.S. lumber industry, 98. See also Coalitions; Interest groups
- Precedent, legal: Capture Theory and New Institutionalism explanations of, 52–53; definition of specificity in, 54; effect in lumber industry trade actions, 53–54; role of, 51–52
- Prices: domestic competition for U.S. steel industry, 29, 32; trigger price related to U.S. steel imports, 18, 20
- Process filer hypothesis: use of antidumping investigation, 90–91
- Process filers: actions of, 86–87; investigation effect of antidumping laws, 88–91; targets and outcomes under antidumping laws, 91–92
- Protection: auto industry ability to obtain, 36–38; economic effects of auto industry, 38–42, 96; effect on U.S. semiconductor industry, 97; effects on steel industry of, 96–97; under Long Term Arrangement on Cotton Textiles, 46; under Multi-Fibre Arrangement, 2, 97; in NAFTA implementing legislation, 75–80; political economy of, 1–2; post–World War II U.S., 44; steel industry future, 31–32; under Trade Expansion Act (1962), 45–46; for U.S. steel industry (1969–84), 15, 17–22; U.S. steel industry political strength in pursuing, 22–26; voluntary export restraints as, 2. See also Administered protection (AP)
- Quantitative restrictions: U.S. steel industry pressure for, 18
- Quotas: under GATT, 43, 49; negotiation under Multi-Fibre Arrangement, 47–48; production quotas under European Davignon Plan, 20; proposed end to U.S., 28; U.S. textile industry petition for (1955), 44–45. See also Tariff-rate quotas (TRQs)
- Reagan administration, 21–22, 37–38, 62
- Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, 44, 49
- Rent seeking, interest groups, 52
- Revenue Act (1916): antidumping provisions, 85
- Section 301 action. See Trade actions
- Semiconductor industry: effect of protection on U.S., 97; Japan, 7–8; U.S., 6–7
- Semiconductor Industry Association (SIA): antidumping opposition of, 12; formation, 6–7; trade-related actions, 8–9
- Semiconductor Trade Agreement (1986), U.S.–Japan: effects of, 11–12; negotiation of, 5–6, 10–11; protection under, 3; suspension agreement, 89
- SIA. See Semiconductor Industry Association (SIA)
- Smoot-Hawley tariff, 44, 49
- Steel import regime arguments, 25
- Steel industry, U.S.: actions related to trade protection, 15–16, 21–22; changes in and performance of (1960–92), 17–19; chronology of trade-related actions, 33; effect

- Steel industry, U.S. (cont.)
of protectionist measures on, 96; factors in changing influence of, 16, 29–32; pressure for protection, 22–26, 33; pressure to renew VRA program, 26–29; renegotiated VRA benefits, 21; VRA renewal campaign (1988), 26–29
- Steel minimills, U.S.: effect on steel industry cohesion, 16, 96–97; as product of technological change, 29–31
- Steel triangle, United States, 15
- Subsidies: countervailable Canadian stumpage rights, 53–56; effectiveness of U.S. agricultural commodity, 64–66; to European and Japanese steel industries, 17–18, 20–21, 25; U.S. exported agricultural products, 62–68
- Suspension effect, antidumping law, 89, 91
- Tariff-rate quotas (TRQs), 74
- Technology: changing steel industry, 17, 20, 23–24, 29–31. See also Steel minimills, U.S.
- Textile industry, U.S.: economic impact of protection for, 48
- Trade: effects of antidumping petition on, 86, 88–91; effects of U.S. antidumping law, 88–91; NAFTA provisions for liberalization, 80
- Trade Act (1974), U.S., 18; Section 201 escape clause, 37n4; Section 301, 6
- Trade actions: Japanese response to Section 301 action, 10–11; Section 204, Trade Expansion Act, 46; Section 301 action against Japan (1985), 9–10
- Trade barriers. See Barriers to entry
- Trade disputes: ITA adjudication of lumber industry, 53–56; lumber industry winning arguments in, 56–60; U.S.-Japanese dynamic random-access memory chips (DRAMs), 6
- Trade Expansion Act (1962), 45–46
- Trade law, U.S.: impact of protection in, 100–103
- Trade policy: as instrument of foreign policy, 44–46; as issue for political entrepreneurs, 37; Section 301 actions, 9–11; U.S. Multilateral Steel Agreement, 27–28
- Trading regions: heterogeneity of, 92–93
- Trigger price mechanism (TPM): related to steel in Trade Act (1974), 18, 20–21
TRQs. See Tariff-rate quotas (TRQs)
- UAW. See United Auto Workers (UAW)
- United Auto Workers (UAW): gains from auto VER restraints, 40–41; political action of, 35
- United Steel Workers, 17–18, 24
- U.S. Department of Agriculture: Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), 62–64; Export Enhancement Program (EEP), 62–66; Payment in Kind (PIK) program, 61
- U.S. Department of Commerce: administration of countervailing duty law, 51; International Trade Administration (ITA), 54–55, 87
- U.S. International Trade Commission: countervailing and antidumping duty rulings, 21; determines material injury to domestic industry, 87–88; ruling in auto industry escape clause petition (1980), 37; rulings on steel industry administered protection petitions, 29; steel import relief ruling (1984), 22
- U.S. Trade Representative (USTR): initiation of Section 301 trade action against Japan, 9–10
- Vertical integration: as barrier to market entry in Japan, 9
- Voluntary export restraints (VERs): protection for U.S. automobile industry, 2, 96; protection for U.S. steel, 2; Reagan administration negotiation, 38; for textile and apparel industries, 49; welfare effects of, 38–42
- Voluntary import restraint agreements (VRAs): renewal campaign (1988), 26–29; steel import limits (1984), 22; U.S. renegotiation of steel-related, 21; for U.S. steel companies, 16, 17
- Welfare effects: partial equilibrium technique, 38–39
- Withdrawal effect, antidumping law, 90
- Workers: auto industry, 38–41; steel industry, 24, 31